A newclear Music Press Release for the new remix album: nsu – Rescapé (NCMR006LP)

newclearmusic.com

The first release for 2011 by nsu is a downbeat/ambient remix concept album, showcasing the work of a select group of producers from all around New Zealand. The album is titled "Rescapé" (French for "survivor"), a play on the title of the 2009 EP "Escape", and its release signals a game-changer:

"Having released a couple of remix singles last year, primarily focusing around styles such as dubstep, breakbeat, house, electro and techno, I wanted to flip the coin and move away from the dance floor in order put the spotlight on the more laid-back genres, while staying true to the remix art form. The intention is to have something that, regardless of the environment, encourages people to listen and allow inside their headspace, rather than have an hour full of slamming rhythms and pulverising basslines." - Ivan Vuković (IV), nsu

Collaborations are the key strength of the album, as the compilation features new versions of previously released nsu tracks put together by handpicked producers:

"I love the concept of a remix and hearing how other musicians construct their own interpretations of my work. As a result I was keen to put together a full-length album project that involved artists from around the country whose work I have admired over the years - the bonus here is, I can refer to most of these guys as my friends. I love working together with other people and I'm very proud of the outcome on this album - it plays very nicely from start to end." - IV

The album features sublime new work from respected New Zealand artists such as Auckland's Dub Asylum and Soul Science, 762 (one half of Sick Cycle from Christchurch), Raglan's Felix Deluxe and Jason Lurman (from Hamilton instrumental rock band Sora Shima), as well as chill-out specialists from the South Island - Invader Tron (CHCH), Sharkweek (Dunedin) and Stray Theories (Timaru). nsu also delivers two of his own fresh new reworks, including a collaboration with Haszari of the Cartoon Beats fame.

"Rescapé" will be released in April 2011 and will be available in digital format at online retailers such as Apple iTunes, JunoDownload.com, Bandcamp and Amplifier.co.nz. The album will also be available on CD in limited numbers.
